Re: Swiss Holocaust matters – 09-civ-3215 (ERK)

Dear Senior Judge Korman

I wrote to the Court on November 15, 2010 and requested leave to intervene in the action of 09-civ-3215 for the documents. So far, I have yet to receive a response from the Court or an objection from Mr. Fagan.

I renew my request and ask the Court to consider this in place of a motion.

As the Court and the parties are well aware, I have a direct interest in safeguarding the “documents” in the above captioned matter as they directly pertain to me. My cause of action is what gave rise to challenge the Swiss Banks for release of bank accounts of holocaust survivors and victims’. Currently now before the Court, is an unresolved issue of handling the documents relating to the holocaust that my former attorney Edward D. Fagan left behind. The Court is considering and weighing its options on the recommendations of Professor Burt Neuborne to dispose of them. Therefore, I request leave to intervene for the authority to preserve these documents for future generations. Understanding, the Court may prescribe the handling and preservation of these documents for history.

From public records, it is revealed that Mr. Fagan abandoned these documents sometime in 2005, during his NJ ethics proceeding. The evidence shows:

1. As early as April 2006, Mr. Fagan knew about these documents and did not take any required action. See Dck #8, page 4.
2. As early as October 2008, Mr. Fagan sued for the taking of these documents but did not request its return. See NJ 08-civ-5111 (SDW) Fagan vs. State of New Jersey.
3. As early as May 2006, the State of New Jersey entered into the record the discovery of these documents. Exhibits R-17 through R-31, In the matter of Edward D. Fagan an attorney at law.

Handwritten signature/initials and date 2/22/11

4. As early as May 2005, Mr. Fagan had abandoned these documents according to the Office of Attorney Ethics. See Decision In the matter of Edward D. Fagan an attorney at law decided January 19, 2009 page 86.

The process over managing these documents, are ongoing since its discovery in 2006. Mr. Fagan has argued that they were seized without permission but this Court and NJ Supreme Court accepted that no one took these documents. Instead, he had purposely left them behind. See Dck # 14, pages 3-4.

Since the Court and the restitution fund have now reached a point where storing the documents at their cost are no longer an option, where disposal of them is an option, I make this timely request In accordance with FRCP Rule 24(a) (2), to prevent the destruction of these documents.

In considering a motion to intervene, one must provide, (I) an interest in the transaction or property in subject (II) if intervention will be prejudicial against the parties, (III) denial of the motion would be prejudicial against the intervener, (IV) neither party adequately represents that interest, and (V) granting the motion would not present a waste of judicial resources.

As described, my intervention will not present any prejudice against Mr. Fagan since it is well established that he abandonment the documents and so far done nothing to retrieve them. In fact, my intervention includes considering to payoff outstanding storage costs; reimburse the Court some of the storage costs and bring a solution to this issue.

My interest in these documents arises from four factors. (I) I paid for the advertisement and collection of the petitions. (II) My family and I worked, "receiving no compensation" to collect, docket, and file all petitions in the office of Mr. Fagan. (III) I have become a center point to whom betrayed clients of Mr. Fagan turn to for emotional support and information. In addition, (IV) upon information and belief, these documents contain valuable information for genealogy research aside from holocaust claims.

There is no question: that my family and I worked in the office of Mr. Fagan from the start of the Swiss litigation until 1998. My duties included docketing and filing all petitions, answering phone calls, and facilitating other needs as well. (My skills were very valuable to Mr. Fagan since I speak and read Yiddish, English, Romanian, Hungarian, and German fluently). As proof, I still have 120 original petitions that were not filed with Mr. Fagan because our trust-communication had then visibly collapsed. (See attached samples of letters and petitions received)

Finally, many clients of Mr. Fagan who won judgments against him still contact me on a regular basis seeking information and support. While they know Mr. Fagan has no intention to make good on these judgments, the only relief they can receive is answers to their cases. That is why I propose that the documents of former clients, other than holocaust claims related, to be return to the rightful persons.

The overall act of leaving documents behind with the intent to destroy evidence shows the value these documents contain, and preserving them is critical. Even if these documents are not adequately necessary for current or future claimants for restitution, these documents clearly contain historical information of holocaust survivors noting the names and towns/villages his or hers from where family members vanished in the tragedy of the holocaust. Such information is necessary to be preserved for future generations and genealogy purposes.

In conclusion, I request the Court to grant me leave to intervene for the documents in question. If this proposal is not effectible, I request that the Court set the parameters upon how I may intervene for safeguarding these documents and for the Court to offer a memorandum with orders.

At the same time, I would like to thank and appreciate the Honorable Court, Professor Neuborne, and Clancy-Cullen for protecting and preserving these documents from destruction.

Respectfully submitted,

Gizella Weisshaus,

Dear Mrs. Weishauss:

What a small world that I got to know you!

I am enclosing a copy of my story, which appears in a book called "Pens of Many Colours." Of course this is only in a nutshell. Since you were also in the camp, you can imagine that my story is very special and so is the story of the other six women.

Years ago a Hungarian filmmaker came here from Budapest. She put an ad in the Hungarian newspaper looking for Miriam Schwarcz from Komarom who brought a baby home from Kaufering.

Our cousin who saw the ad wrote to us, so the filmmaker found me and I helped her to find the other women. She wanted to make the movie. I think she had financial difficulty with it and nothing happened.

I am still in touch with the remaining women. One passed away a few years ago.

I speak to Suri in Williamsburg sometimes. She is not willing to talk about her experience.

I made a video for Spielberg's Shoah project and I tried to convince Suri to do it too but she declined.

About three months ago I submitted my application to Fagan and Associates.

My son does not receive anything from the Germans.

Keep up your good work, Mrs. Weishauss. Maybe one of these days I will meet you in person. Until then all the very best to you and your family, and a Koshern Pesach.

Yours very truly,

Mr. Re: Mrs. G. Weishauss, March 21, 1997 (ERK)
